

Fox TRF

An upright Italic typeface in three weights

Fox is a completely new typeface based on my previously designed Fox family font, which has been in distribution by T26 type foundry since 2001. Old Fox typeface design decisions were reconsidered in a way to improve legibility without sacrificing its originality. This new Fox family consists two subfamilies: FOX TRF and Fox Sans TRF.

FOX TRF is upright italic typeface with light, regular and bold weight styles. The most distinguished Fox characteristic is the lowercase letters. Their curly, playful and vivid letter forms were derived from handwritten lettering then carefully shaped and adapted onto sans serif category.

Fox typeface is recommended for use as a display font, and has been generated in a single OpenType format with Western CP1252 character set.
